Student Equity Ambassador Network

Presented to MSAAC
November 17, 2021
Student Equity Ambassadors

• Student program made up of a diverse group of middle and high school students

• Students serve to represent the voices of peers who have experienced or witnessed injustice, marginalization, or discrimination

• The goal is to provide an ongoing opportunity to amplify the voices of these students when the ambassadors meet during the Share, Speak Up, Speak Out Meetings
We Asked, Students Said...

1. They want their voices to be heard and valued.

2. They want their perspective heard.

3. They want adults to have an open mind.

4. They want to work together as a group to have impact on their schools and their communities.
Tonight’s Student Ambassadors

• Claire Tate, Lightridge HS
• Danielle Yemo, Smarts Mill MS
• Gael Sanchez-Zubieta, Trailside MS

1. You served as a student equity ambassador last year and also this year for your school. Share with us about your experience as a student equity ambassador and why equity is important.

2. We have transitioned to in-person learning for this school year. What has gone well for you so far? Also, what do you need from your teachers, administrators and other adults to help make this a successful year for you?
