

April 23, 2020

Dear LCPS Special Education Families:

We hope that you and your family remain safe and healthy.

Since April 8, when we provided a detailed update regarding how LCPS will continue supporting students with disabilities while schools are closed for the remainder of the 2019-2020 school year, LCPS special education team members have been reaching out to families to propose, finalize and begin implementing Temporary Distance Learning Plans (TDLPs) that are individualized to support students with disabilities participating in LCPS' Continuity of Education Plan.

While many of those plans are in place now, we know that some parents and guardians may still have questions about the TDLP process, how we are collaborating with families to address their students' needs and the support LCPS is providing for students with disabilities at the elementary and secondary levels.

To address those questions and others that you may have, we will host an Online Information Session for Parents of Students with Disabilities on Thursday, April 30, from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

A link to access the online meeting will be provided next week. The meeting will be streamed live through the LCPS-TV website.

The session will include a brief presentation by school-based and central office special education administrators.

To help ensure we are responding to the questions you may have, please use this survey form to submit questions and topics you'd like us to address. We will respond to as many questions and topics as we can in the time available. (Please do not use this form to ask questions about individual student situations; please contact your student's teacher, case manager, or school administrator to discuss specific student requirements or concerns.)

We thank you in advance for your input and feedback, and look forward to your participation on April 30.

Sincerely,

The LCPS Special Education Team
