

DOT-TO-DOT A

Listen to your partner. He or she will read a series of letters. Listen carefully. Start with the letter A and draw a line from A to the next letter that you hear your partner say. Continue to draw lines to each additional letter that you hear. When it is your turn to read letters, start at the top of the list of letters on the left and read each letter down the list. This is a "reverse role" activity. Do not take turns. One partner should read the entire list of letters, and then it is the other partner's turn to read the entire list.
