

October 2023

This month we are learning...

Math—We will continue to build our number sense and learn about ordinal numbers and be able to give a reasonable estimation for different groups of objects.

Social Science —We will learn what a community is and the different communities we belong to. We will also learn about why communities have symbols and traditions. We will share some of our family traditions and learn about the common traditions we have as Americans.

Reading & Writing-- We will become authors and write our first book. We will continue to strengthen our writing skills by using spaces, correct letter formation and end punctuation. In Reading, we continue to build our comprehension and decoding skills.
